This Week's Learning

English

In English this week, we continued The King who banned the dark. We looked at all the different features we might find in persuading writing and then used these features to have a debate.

Weekly Challenge: Write a persuasive speech for your teacher about a change you would like in the classroom. You must have three reasons for this change. Remember all the different features that should be in it (conjunctions, sentences starters, facts, alliteration)

Maths

This week, we have been finding missing values. We have looked at the information we already have and used that to find the missing number.

EG:

Challenge- Solve the missing values:

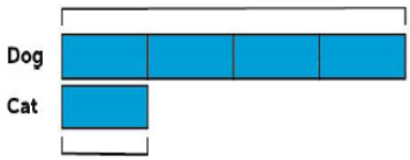
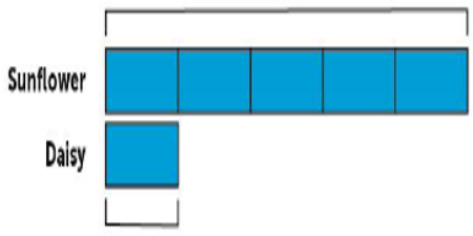
1)



If the cat weighs 7 kg how much does the dog weigh?

How much do they weigh altogether?

2)



If the sunflower is 20cm, how tall is the daisy?

Foundation Subject:

This week, we have completed our Art unit. We have studied the artist Faith Ringgold who creates textile artwork. We then learnt about Mandalas and weaving and created our own loom to weave. It has been great fun but a little tricky!

Have a lovely weekend,
